CONCERTED ACTION OF COTTON GROWERS AGAINST HIGH RATE

By Associated Press.
Dallas, July 12.—Complaint against 430 railroads alleging unjust cotton freight rates and asking a 20 per cent reduction was filed today with the Interstate Commerce Commission by the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association.

Announcement of the action was made at the offices of the Association here today.

The complaint alleges that railroad earnings in the Southwest, because of "excessive, unjust and unreasonable rates on cotton" are greater than are the general railroad earnings throughout the country and that the standard of living of Southwestern cotton farmers has been reduced "in order to enable them to survive."

Virtually every railroad in the United States and Canada is named defendant, and it is stated this is the first time that cotton growers have brought concerted action against the carriers for a general rate reduction.

While brought in the name of the Texas Farm Bureau Association, the petition will be supplemented by complaints from eleven other states, the other complaints to be brought in the name of the American Cotton Growers Exchange of Memphis, Tenn.

WAS MADE MEMBER HARDING'S CABINET RESIGNED IN 1925

HAD LED ACTIVE LIFE; IN ILL HEALTH FOR MANY MONTHS

By Associated Press.
Lancaster, N. H., July 12.—John W. Weeks, War Secretary under Presidents Harding and Coolidge, died here at his summer home, Mount Prospect, at 3 o'clock. Death came from angina pectoris and followed a long fight for health.

Mr. Weeks died without regaining consciousness from the coma into which he had lapsed early Sunday morning. Mrs. Weeks, his son, Sinclair, and Mrs. John Washington Davidge, his daughter, were at the bedside when the end came.

Through weary hours of watching they had never ceased to hope that he would rally sufficiently to bid them a farewell, but the pulse which had grown feeble continued to fail and soon death was but a matter of hours.

When the coma came on Dr. R. E. Wilder of Whitefield, personal physician to Mr. Weeks, advised members of the family that death was near and the expectation slight that the former secretary could throw off its spell.

Announcement of the death was made to the Associated Press by Mr. Weeks' son shortly before six o'clock.

Appointment Expected.

It was generally assumed in the event the Republican party won the national elections of 1921 that John W. Weeks would be a member of President Harding's cabinet.

H's selection for Secretary of the Navy or Secretary of the Treasury was regarded as certain. His success as a financier was recognized. His graduation at Annapolis and experience in naval affairs had been recorded as fitting him for the navy secretaryship.

A big surprise came, however, when President-elect Harding announced he would appoint Mr. Weeks Secretary of War.

A rich life experience in the 60 years preceding the appointment was found to have equipped Mr. Weeks for that duty also, as he soon was recognized as a "fortunate selection" for the army, then facing the post-war problems of reorganization and reduction to a peace-time basis.

It was said of him that he "slid into his job" the easiest of any of the other cabinet officers and grasped the conglomerate details of army administration with a thoroughness and quickness that spelled confidence throughout the War Department for the staff officers and hundreds of subordinate chiefs.

Those who sought light on the methods used by the new Secretary soon found it. They had only to review the many-sided life of the man, which showed at a glance that he had lived among five lives, had learned to know them and incidentally had come to know himself.

Born on New Hampshire Farm.

From the time he was born on the little New Hampshire farm near Lancaster, April 11, 1860, he kept in each stage of life an ever-present human viewpoint.

Until he was 17 he was doing chores on the farm, and taking a friendly interest in the horses and other living things about the barn yard. His graduation at the cross

DAN MOODY HEARD BY LARGE CROWD AT COURT HOUSE HERE

SPENDS TIME ON FERGUSON, NOT MENTIONING DAVID-SON IN HIS SPEECH

Despite the rain that fell over Navarro county during the day a large crowd gathered at the court house lawn to hear Dan Moody, candidate for governor, speak in the interest of his candidacy.

The candidate arrived in Corsicana late, driving from Hillsboro where he spoke in the afternoon. Due to the bad roads leading into the county by way of Frost and Blooming Grove a detour was made by Bardwell and Ennis. Moody left for Austin on the Southbound Southern Pacific train.

Moody spoke for two hours, and during his speech he outlined the issues in his campaign, declaring his candidacy is dedicated to the ending of Fergusonism in the administration of Texas affairs.

Cheers and applause greeted the speaker from time to time, and many observers remarked it was one of the most attentive audiences ever attending a political speaking.

Moody was introduced by Rufus Hardy, who was himself presented by F. N. Drane, master of ceremonies.

Joel Trimble with the Municipal Band rendered a thirty minutes concert as the crowds waited for the speaker. The band struck up "Dixie" as Moody mounted the platform, and cheering was spontaneous.

Moody launched into his campaign in much the same manner as he had done in other places, following the same lines of defining Fergusonism. He reviewed the acts of the present administration, including the operations of the American Road company, the Hoffman Construction Company and the State Highway Commission under Lanham and Burkett. He rapped Jim Ferguson in scathing terms, paid his respects to Frank Lanham and Joe Burkett. He produced a copy of the audit of the books of both road companies and explained the "unconscionable" profits made in the highway contracts. He reviewed the ouster and cancellation suits brought by the attorney general's office, and went over the evidence brought out in the hearing.

He brought three charges against Ferguson, namely, the use of pub-

A drilling location has been made for a 2,000 foot test for oil on the Mrs. T. P. Little 170 acres tract in the Lewis Powell Survey at Oak Valley. The location is in the northeast corner of the tract.

Work will be started some time this week towards erecting the derrick and placing the machinery. The material is already on the ground.

A. L. Absher, H. M. Bates, J. A. Huddleston and C. W. Herod have the test in charge and will put the test down. If oil or gas is found at the 2,000 foot depth, the hole will likely be carried on down to 3,000 feet, or deeper, the amount of hours.

The latest of a long line of "Charley Rosses" has appeared in New York to revive interest for moment in America's classic mystery. Relatives of the boy who dropped out of sight 52 years ago in Philadelphia are quick to say, as they always have been in the past, that the newest "Charley" is mistaken.

It is difficult now to believe that the fate of this child was, for a decade, the most prolific source of conversation in this country and that no such extraordinary expenditure of time and effort was ever exerted to find another "Charley."

"Charley Ross was abducted by peddlers who demanded $20,000 for his return. His father was willing to pay the ransom but an attendant hue and cry scared off the kidnappers. From this beginning the case developed swiftly into a house-to-house hunt of the nation. Gypsy camps were subjected to interminable raids. Huge rewards, offered by authorities, relatives and sympathizers, stimulated a search which eventually enlisted every parent in the nation and produced some 300 children, supposed at one time or another in the succeeding four years to be "Charley Ross."

NO PLACE FOR THE KNOCKER

Corsicana has no place for the knocker; a knocker is hardly a man without a country, but his country, his town, or his community has little use for him.

There are all kinds of knockers—as many as there are kinds of people. The thriving city is filled with boosters—boosters who so outnumber the knockers that their knocking does not count for much.

We like the boosters. Sometimes they are super-enthusiastic, or, rather, over enthusiastic; the lead; usually, the knockers can be found in the rear, where it is to the earth.

WILL TEST POWER OF CITY OFFICERS IN LIQUOR CASES

FIRST REPUBLICAN PRIMARY ELECTION HAS FEW CONTESTS

By Associated Press
Dallas, July 10.—Vagrancy charges against persons arrested for bootlegging were filed here today by my Dallas police while attorneys prepared to test the authority of officers to continue search procedure.

In two raids early today, police confiscated 41 gallons of corn liquor and 1,000 pints of home brew. Fines totaling $100 were collected on charges of vagrancy.

Dave Coffman, attorney for a woman arrested, some time ago on a similar charge, is preparing for the woman's trial which is set for Tuesday. He has asked for a jury and will fight the charge on the grounds that the court has no jurisdiction. The woman is a janitress and the mother of several children. She was arrested when home brew was found in her home.

She said she needed the liquor to give her strength for her work. A fine was imposed on a vagrancy charge and therupon Attorney Coffman who happened to be in the court room at the time, appoluted himself her attorney and started proceedings to free the woman on the ground that a vagrancy charge is illegal in a liquor arrest.

MILLIONS BUSHELS WHEAT BE DUMPED ON GROUND WEST TEXAS

By Associated Press
Amarillo, Texas, July 10.—Unless the car shortage in the Panhandle is relieved at once, millions of bushels of wheat will be dumped on the ground within the next few days, according to reports from wheat centers over this section.

Hundreds of cars loaded with wheat are moving every day but due to the fact that the crop this year is unusually large and the harvest in full blast, the shortage has become acute.

From Pampa, the report has been received that unless the car shortage is relieved by July 17, at least 1,000,000 bushels of wheat will be stored on the ground. Grain men and growers there report that the car shortage is affecting the purchase. Where sixty cars daily are needed, it is said that an average of only twelve is being allotted.

According to reliable advices an embargo will be placed on oil well material of every description should the shortage not be relieved.

Unless a very material improvement in the car shortage develops at once, dumping on the ground will be in order at Floydada, it is reported. All grain is dead ripe and must be gotten out of the fields before it shatters, and if no cars are available and the elevators, which are now full, cannot handle the grain, it is reported that it will be dumped on the ground.

Claim No Shortage Exists.
By Associated Press

Dallas, July 10.—American Railway Association officials believe the Panhandle and West Texas wheat crop will be moved without serious delay.

S. C. Andrews of Dallas, district manager of the Car Service Division of the Association, stated that threatened congestion in the producing area was due not to a lack of cars, but to a shortage of loading tracks and space, because of the rapidity with which new harvesting machines are delivering grain. He said that more than 36,000 cars had been accumulated in the Southwest to handle the wheat crop.

State Candidate Visited Corsicana

GEO. B. TERRELL.

George B. Terrell of Cherokee county was in Corsicana Friday, greeting old friends and making new ones. Mr. Terrell is State Commissioner of Agriculture and is seeking re-election to that office through the Democratic nomination in the July 24 primary.

The party apparently is assured of a walkover for one place in the lower house of the Legislature. There is no Democratic candidate listed in District 50, composed of Guadalupe and Comal counties.

This is the district in which there are two candidates seeking the Republican nomination.

As there is no race on the Republican primary ticket having more than two candidates, that party will not have a "run-off" in August.

The list of candidates shown by the survey follows:

State Ticket.

Governor—H. H. Haines, Houston; E. P. Scott, Corpus Christi.

Lieutenant Governor—W. H. Holmes, Amarillo.

Attorney General—Caswell K. McDowell, San Antonio.

Land Commissioner—Helen M. Reynolds, El Paso.

Railroad Commissioner—Wood Durrett, Dallas.

Associate Justice Supreme Court—G. H. Harrison, Brownwood.

Dallas, Texas July 10.—The first Republican primary election in Texas will have to dispose of but seven contested races, according to the list of Republican candidates compiled by the Texas Election Bureau and given to the press today. These include two races on the State ticket, four on the congressional ticket and one on the legislative ticket. The State ticket lists nine unopposed candidates, the congressional ticket fourteen, the legislative ticket nine for the Senate and twenty-seven for the House.

The State and congressional tickets are full, one or more candidates for each office to be filled. The legislative ticket has numerous blanks. For instance, there are candidates for but nine of the fifteen places in the Senate and for but 29 of the 150 places in the lower house of the Legislature. There are no candidates for Justice of the Court of Civil Appeals.

Two women are listed among the candidates. Helen M. Reynolds of El Paso for Land Commissioner and Mrs. R. G. Ayres of Dallas for Representative in the Legislature.

The party apparently is assured of a walkover for one place in the lower house of the Legislature. There is no Democratic candidate listed in District 50, composed of Guadalupe and Comal counties.

This is the district in which there are two candidates seeking the Republican nomination.

As there is no race on the Republican primary ticket having more than two candidates, that party will not have a "run-off" in August.

The list of candidates shown by the survey follows:

TRANSCONTINENTAL NIGGER CREEK WELL OPENS UP NEW POOL

Mexia, Texas, July 9.—The Transcontinental Oil Company's Rossion No. 1 Nigger Creek structure test came in shortly after 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon and was immediately turned through a four-inch line into two 200-barrel tanks that had been erected on the lease. The total depth of the hole is 3,845 feet. The gravity of the oil is 40.

At 3:45 o'clock the test made a head after having been bailed a short while and about 4:15 o'clock started a steady flow into storage tanks that had been drilled eight feet into the sand.

The first half hour on the gauge showed it to be good for 3,500 barrels a day, having made 75 barrels the first half hour. J. C. Ford, general production superintendent, said that crews of pipe line men would be on the job Thursday night making pipe line connections, two major pipe lines being within a few score yards of the discovery well.

Turned Into Pipe Lines.

The Rossion discovery well was turned into Pure Oil pipe lines about night. The well is continuing its steady flow, constantly increasing. Late reports are that it made ninety-five barrels in the half hour, giving it a flow of more than 4,500 barrels at that rate every twenty-four.

Women candidates this year include: For Governor, Mrs. Miriam Ferguson, Mrs. Kate Miller Johnston, Mrs. Edith Wilkins, for State Senate, Miss Margie E. Neal, for Lower House of the Legislature, Miss Louise Detrich, District 89, El Paso, and Mrs. R. S. Thompson, District 123, Amarillo.

Incumbents generally are seeking renomination. Holders of all state offices except Attorney General Moody ask re-election, and Mr. Moody is on the ticket for Governor. All seventeen democratic Congressmen seek renomination, as does the lone Republican Congressman.

All members of the Courts of Civil Appeals whose terms expire this year are on the ticket. Twelve members of the State Senate are candidates to succeed themselves, with elections in fifteen districts.

Ninety-seven of the 150 members of the Lower House of the Legislature want to serve again in 1926. On account of redistricting, thirty-one seats in the Senate were filled in 1924, whereas this year only fifteen terms expire.

To Aid Business.

Postmaster Isidore Newman declares the discovery will add tremendously to postal business, and emphasized the need for larger quarters and more clerks. Business generally is on the upgrade. It was announced Thursday night that contracts had already been let for seven additional truck buildings in Mexia since the well came in. The Transcontinental has made locations for twenty additional tests. Supply houses, generally open short on material, which indicates heavy traffic by rail will begin to roll this way within twenty-four hours.

"Nigger Creek," Texas, is the name of a new oil field town that will start up early Saturday within 600 feet of the original Nigger Creek test on the Rossion twenty-four acre test.

A contract was let Thursday night for a grocery store, mercantile establishment and filling station on the new townsite. Datuna, the nearest railroad point, is on the Trinity and Brazos Valley, about three miles from the discovery well. It is a village of about 100 people and will also prosper by the discovery, as Coolege, about eight miles distant. Many new derricks are to go up within the next few days.

Mexia, Texas, July 9.—The flow of Transcontinental Rossion No. 1 Nigger Creek today increased to 135 barrels hourly while Mexia began to take on the appearance of a boom. Twenty new locations were made and many derrick patterns ordered out. Hotels are generally full, but two candidates for the ticket have been granted free: State Ticket, 5; Civil Appeals, 1; Congress, 1; State Senate, 1.

FORMER CORSICANA MAN BUILDED BETTER THAN HE THEN KNEW

When Charles Green, the furniture store man, planted a tiny cottonwood about 24 inches high at the corner of Taylor and Seventh streets, ten years ago, he didn't dream that pedestrians would sing out its shade as an oasis while they waited on the amber traffic light to finally switch to green.

J. C. Skillman, district clerk, one of the old-timers around here, remembers when "Charley" got the tiny tree out at Hall's ranch and planted it at his present location.

I has never had any care since and he city's business district has grown up around it. No one ever paid any attention to it until the traffic signals were installed. Now it forms one of the few comfortable spots where weary, hot footmen can be cool for a few moments.

The above from the Amarillo Globe records a thoughtful small deed which has borne large results for his town and townpeople. Charlie Green is a brother of Mrs. J. F. Stout and was a former Corsican. He and his deceased brother, James Green, built up a large furniture business and fortunes in Amarillo, the present home of Mr. Green.

ANOTHER WRECK OF FREIGHT TRAIN ON T. & B. V. ROAD

Traffic was temporarily tied up on the Trinity & Brazos Valley railroad when three box cars of a freight train went off the track at the Beaton street intersection Sunday. No one was hurt. A crew of workmen were called out to repair the damage.

This is the second freight wreck to occur on the T. & B. V. almost at the same place within the last week. Three cars were derailed a few days ago near the Beaton street intersection.

roads school and local high school placed him soon afterwards in the school master's chair, also at a country cross roads in his native state.

The then young school master succeeded at the age of 18 in getting an appointment to the Naval Academy at Annapolis, where he was graduated four years later a midshipman. But two more years sufficed to kill what ambition remained in the mind of Midshipman Weeks for a permanent post in the Navy. He and a number of his classmates resigned.

In 1885, Mr. Weeks married Miss Martha Sinclair and journeyed south as a surveyor and land commissioner for the Florida and Southern Railroad. Three years later, he turned to New England, joining partnership in what grew to be the thriving firm of Hornblower & Weeks, bankers, of Boston, Mass.

One of the biggest financial establishments in that part of the country, this was said to owe its success than once during the year following the burial of the Unknown.

Secretary Weeks "was a sick man" and "would resign on account of health." Few knew, however, that his sufferings resulted from the march to Arlington and his determination to pay his own tribute to America's Unknown warrior from France.

Secretary Retires.

Mr. Weeks' released active control of the War Department early in April, 1925, when he was stricken with thrombosis, the illness which led to his resignation six months later. His condition was at first grave, but improved so that, May 28, he was able to undergo an operation in a Boston hospital for removal of gall stones. Recovering slowly from the operation, the Secretary remained in retirement.

On October 12, his associates in the War Department were surprised to see him return to his desk apparently prepared to resume his work. Late in the day, however, it became known that he had submitted his resignation to President Coolidge, and on the next day, the President announced the appointment of Dwight F. Davis of Missouri to succeed him.

Courageous, able and friendly to the leaders both of the Republican and Democratic parties, Congressman Weeks endeared himself to his colleagues in the House, impressing them by his obvious sincerity and competency. He took an important part in shaping the Aldrich-Vreeland currency law as a member of the Banking and Currency Committee and was influential in obtaining its passage. President Wilson found his advice valuable and often called him to the White House for conferences during the period when the Federal Reserve Act was in the making. Congressman Weeks, meanwhile, had become Senator Weeks, succeeding Winthrop Murray Crane, of Massachusetts.

Between the time Mr. Weeks retired from the Senate and his appointment as Secretary of War, he devoted himself almost exclusively to affairs of the Republican Party, taking the role of a leader in the presidential campaign of 1920 and at the national convention, where he helped bring about the nomination of Warren G. Harding. At that time he was the National Committeeman from Massachusetts. Later he was a member of the Republican National Campaign Committee of five.

In appreciation for his services and in recognition of his value to the Government, when to be inaugurated, Mr. Weeks was one of the first selections made by President Harding when he was choosing his cabinet.

Sending of the Wood-Forbes mission to the Philippine Islands and the designation of Major General Wood as Governor-General of the Islands, was one of the first important acts of Secretary Weeks as head of the War-Department.

Fights Congress on Personnel.

Then came his first fight with Congress. It began when Congress voted to reduce the army from 250,000 to 150,000 enlisted strength and continued until the legislators finally cut the size of the regular establishment to 125,000. General Pershing had returned from France and been created General of the Armies. After Secretary Weeks took office, Pershing became chief of staff and stood side by side with his chief in the fight, but to no avail.

It was during this controversy with Congress that Secretary Weeks first revealed the policy of Army administration which prevailed throughout his tenure of office. "The great trouble with most army men," he said, "is that they are apt to lose the human view of affairs. We must democratize our army as much as possible and popularize the service, interesting the public in its work and impress upon it the necessity of having an Army well officered and well trained for any emergency."

The strictest sort of application to affairs of the War Department and the long hours he labored there left their mark on Mr. Weeks. He reluctantly gave up golf and all

DETERMINED FIGHT OF YOUNG SISTER SAVES HER BROTHER

By Associated Press.

Lincoln, Nebr., July 9.—The determined fight of a sixteen year old girl to save her brother from the electric chair resulted today in a five day reprieve for Donald Ringer, 19-year-old youth sentenced to death for murder.

Four hours before the death march was scheduled to begin Governor McMullen, after an all night conference with defense attorneys, granted the reprieve at 3 o'clock this morning upon the presentation of statements that Carl Moore, Ringer's alleged victim, was seen alive three days after the date he was supposed to have been murdered.

The state pardons board declined Wednesday to hear the sister's plea for commutation of the sentence to life imprisonment. The girl then appealed to the Governor, who granted a reprieve until July 13.

BOND VALIDATION MUST COME HUBBARD STATED FT. WORTH

By Associated Press.

Amarillo, Texas, July 9.—Judge Henry Bishop of district court here today took issue with Judge C. A. Pippen, district judge in Dallas, who recently admonished a grand jury not to "waste time" on beer cases, as the State makes no financial provision for the testing of beer for alcoholic content.

Judge Bishop declared that so far as he was concerned any "general violation of the law" in the way of amateur beer brewing would not be countenanced. He has had the co-operation of the city chemist in testing evidence, he said, and declared he felt sure the people of Amarillo would raise the money, if necessary, for testing liquor seized by officers, rather than see a "general breakdown of enforcement in Amarillo."

"Immediately after the primary on July 24, we will renew our fight to have the road bonds validated," said Hubbard. "The bonds are an honest debt. We must pay them off."

"There is a technicality that makes the bonds invalid. That technicality must be removed. Any other course is plain dishonesty."

Hubbard said that in order to get the full benefit of roads that have been paved, the gaps should be filled in. He defended the highway laws, saying that in themselves they are all right, but have sometimes been administered wrongly.

The Home Demonstration Club of Zion's Rest met at the home of Mrs. Fife last Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Mrs. Bryant, president in the chair. Mrs. McGinnis opened the meeting with the reading of 11th chapter of Hebrews. The dressmaking demonstration which was reported for the meeting was postponed for another time on account of so many other things which were necessary to leave a large share in the voting come before the club. Miss Lowson gave an interesting lecture on the art of home reports including blagging, the best kind of bacon, powder to use in different cakes, biscuits, bread etc. A big eat contest was put on for next week, three members enlisted and will report at the next meeting which will be at the home of Mrs. Zack Wilson on North 24th street Monday, July 13th at 2 o'clock. The club is doing a wonderful work in the way of home making and home instruction and is very interesting and beneficial. All ladies of the community are invited to attend and take an active part.

MEETING BUSINESS INTEREST OF CITY TUESDAY MORNING

There will be a special meeting of the business interests of Corsicana Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce headquarters for the purpose of discussing and probably taking action on the matter of securing transportation facilities between Corsicana and Mexia.

It is argued by many that there will probably be a heavy influx of operators and workers into Mexia as a result of the bringing in of the Transcontinental's Stockton No. 1 in the Nigger Creek area, and that as the accommodations are rather limited at Mexia that Corsicana should receive a considerable overflow, especially since rents are more reasonable here now than at any time in several years and hotel facilities are ample and modern.

It is urged that everyone interested in this matter attend the meeting at the Chamber of Commerce headquarters Tuesday morning.

Bring Us

your chickens, butter and eggs, also your fat cattle. If you are in need of anything in our line we will appreciate your business. We have a nice line of fresh meats and barbecue.

"Corsicana Has It."

SEARCHLIGHT IS ATOP STATE NATIONAL BLDG.

Many residents of Corsicana and the surrounding country—even unto the confines of the county in some directions—were surprised Friday night when they held beams of light shooting across the sky in all directions. The phenomena was soon explained when it was found that the management of the big eight-story State National Bank building had installed a powerful revolving searchlight upon the topmost point of the building and that the bright rays of light that shot intermittently across the heavens to all points of the compass came from this source.

The apparatus is known as a Sperry revolving searchlight and the lamp used is of 1,000 watt, with the great lens magnifying this many times over, making a 7,000,000 candlepower beam. It was stated by N. Suttle Roberts, vice president of the State National Bank, that the light was installed for the purpose of keeping the bank and Corsicana before the people of the surrounding country and that it was an automatic affair and would throw its rays nightly between the hours of 8:15 and 11:30 o'clock.

C. B. Bankston of Dawson was in Corsicana Monday.

HIGHWAY BULLETIN ISSUED WEEKLY BY STATE DEPARTMENT

Special to the Sun.

Austin, Texas, July 10.—The following bulletin on the condition of the State highways was given out by the Texas State Highway Department for this week:

Texarkana to El Paso, distance approximately 891 miles—

This highway traverses the state from east to west, serving twenty-six counties. Bowie, Titus, Hopkins, Rockwall, Dallas, Tarrant, Parker, Palo Pinto, Eastland, Callahan, Taylor, Nolan, Mitchell, Howard, Martin, Midland, Ector, Winkler, Ward, Reeves, Jeff Davis, Culberson, Hudspeth and El Paso. The highway touches only the corner of Martin, Midland, Winkler and Jeff Davis counties.

This is the longest stretch of highway mileage in the state, and is mainly a surfaced highway.

There is, however, at present some work in progress along this route. There is what is estimated to be a three months job of pouring of concrete on the highway in Bowie county near Texarkana, which makes a detour necessary via New Boston. This detour is hard surfaced and good. Grading is in progress in Hopkins county, there being no surfacing on this stretch, but this will be a project in the near future with topping for this section. There is also in progress the widening of the Dallas-Fort Worth pike on this highway, which calls for a detour. There is some work of regrading in course of operation in Callahan, Nolan and Ward counties, but maintenance engineers report the road good.

This highway is good for travel the whole year, there being no places where weather conditions would prevent traffic. Within the course of the year this highway will be practically one hard surfaced stretch the entire distance from border to border, Texarkana to El Paso.

The importance of this state highway is readily appreciated when taking into consideration the territory it traverses. In the twenty-six counties there is natural resources, industries, enterprises and property values of a potential value which offers interesting speculation. This territory includes a diversity of soil, business interests and development in keeping with the area—it is the territory of an empire.

State Highway No. 1, a main artery of transit across the state, is within itself, a subject for a story of gripping interest. It passes through some of the main cities of the state, namely Texarkana, Greenville, Dallas, Fort Worth and El Paso. It traverses soil both rich and productive, soil suited to agriculture, truck and fruit growing, traverses large ranch properties, oil fields with the output of liquid gold, through scenic mountain country, where health, peace and happiness abound, and where the waters of springs irrigate hundreds of acres of fertile soil. This state highway No. 1, however, is but one of the great system which Texas is today building and developing.

A Detour Sign is a Sign of Progress.

MAPS NOW BEING PREPARED OF EXALL HIGHWAY DISTRICT

Officials of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce are working on a strip map of the Dallas-Houston Exall Highway and tentative maps have been sent to all of the cities on the highway. When this strip map is finally accepted large numbers will be printed and distributed, especially in tourist headquarters and bureaus.

The section of the highway between Corsicana and Mexia will receive considerable attention from a Corsicana standpoint due to the increased traffic which will be had due to the revived oil interest in the Mexia sector with the completion of a well near Mexia. Better maintenance will be stressed.

LOCAL CANDIDATES SPOKE BRIEFLY AT EUREKA LAST NIGHT

The local candidates spoke at Eureka Friday night and presented their candidacy to the voters of that precinct. The speeches were made short, and the candidates confined themselves almost entirely to announcements.

The Rice speaking date for tonight has been changed to Monday night. The candidates wanted to attend the Moody speaking in Corsicana tonight, and postponed the Rice date.

Sensational Cut in Tire Prices

We have received our new lower prices announced, hastily, in Friday's paper and the decline is even greater than the first, meager, reports indicated.

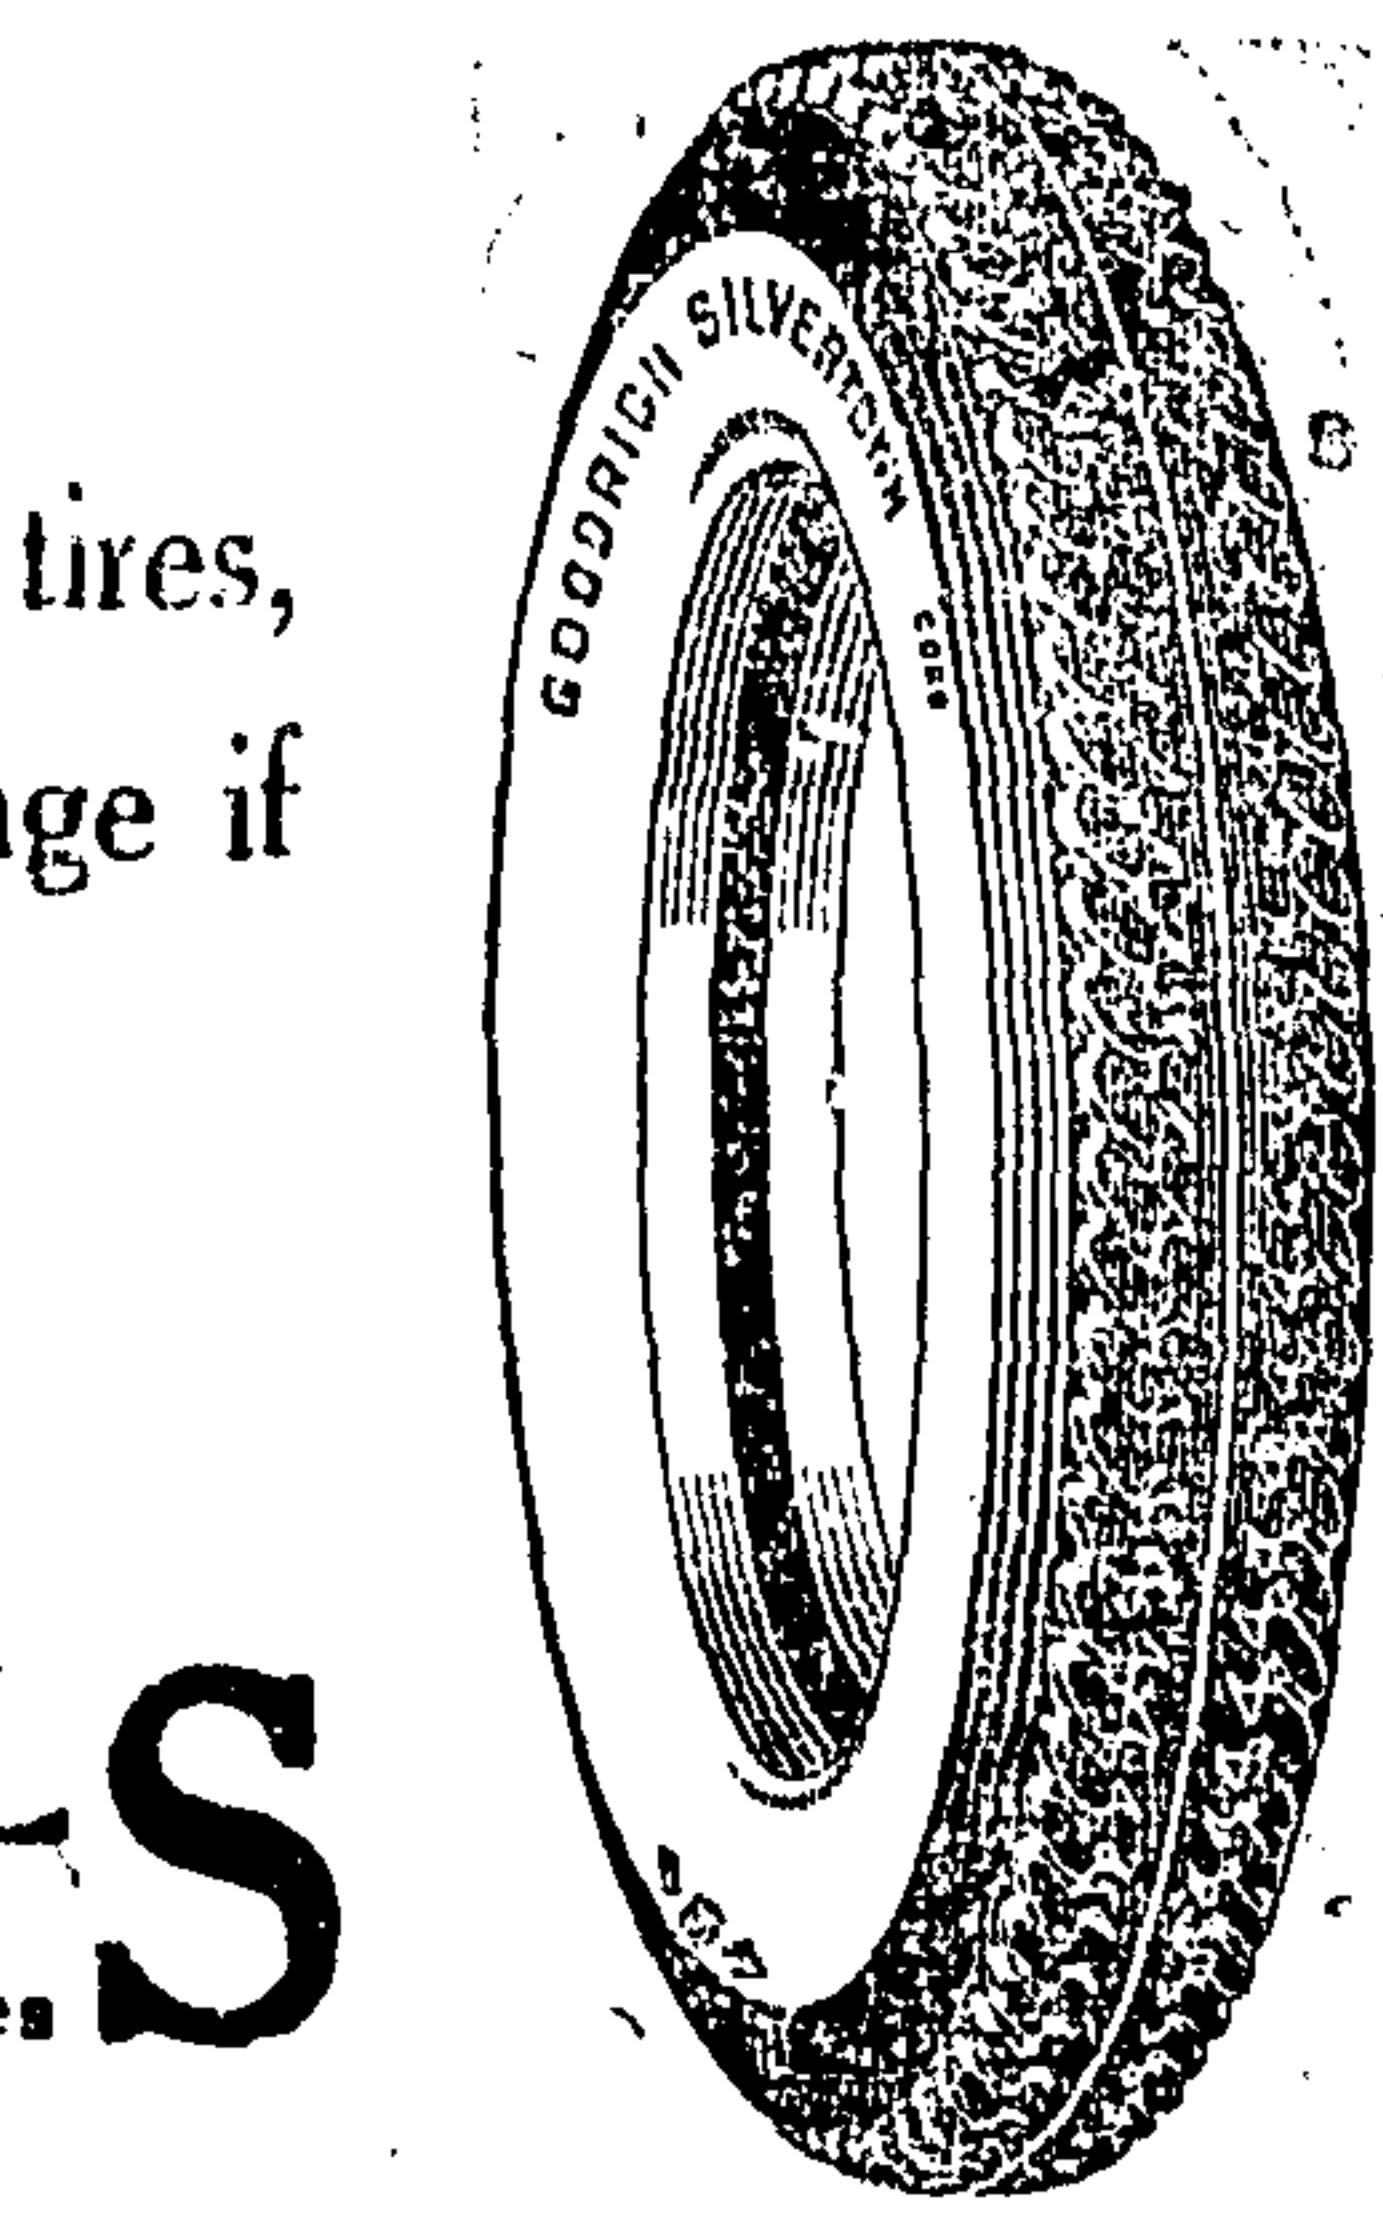

Price levels of 1924 have been restored and figured in percentages the new prices are twenty-five per cent below the peak prices of last year.

There should be no hesitancy now on the part of the buying public needing tires or tubes with these lower tire and tube prices. At the same time we also want to announce that the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company is now building better rubber products than at any time before.

With lower prices and better tires, we offer you a double advantage if you need tires or tubes.

With The Gubernatorial Candidates

MORE FUEL TO BE ADDED TO POLITICAL CAULDRON THIS WEEK

REPUBLICANS SLATED COME IN FOR PART OF LIMELIGHT THIS WEEK

By Associated Press.
Dallas, July 12.—More fuel for the political cauldron was to be added this week by candidates for governor as the ultimate goal of July 24 approached.

The three major candidates for governor on the Democratic side, who have been diligently at work on the hustings for many weeks, were not to have all the limelight.

The Republicans are also getting into the race. A number of speaking dates were announced yesterday for Col. Harvey H. Gaines of Houston, candidate of the "regular" Republican faction, while Congressman Harry M. Wurzbach, who has kicked up a row in the Texas G. O. P. ranks over patronage, was due in Dallas today to confer with friends. Wurzbach was to speak in Fort Worth tonight.

The week end will bring statements from candidates and supporters, and all candidates predicted victory for themselves.

Lynch Davidson's headquarters here issued a reply to Oscar B. Colquitt of Dallas, former governor, who a few days ago challenged Davidson to prove certain charges he had made about Colquitt's paper, The Free Lance.

The Davidson statement was issued by Joe Hale, Davidson's campaign manager, and quoted a letter taken from a court record tending to show the large brewing interests supported Colquitt's candidacy for governor with heavy financial contributions. In this statement of a few days ago, Colquitt had said that he was for enforcement of the prohibition law, though he had been against its passage.

Dan Moody issued a statement yesterday at Austin charging that evidence had been brought to his attention that James E. Ferguson was seeking an excuse to evade the pledge made that Governor William A. Ferguson would resign her position if Moody led her by one vote in the first primary. Moody said he was giving the public notice that he intended to live up to his word and would insist upon strict compliance with the terms of the pledge on the Ferguson side.

The Ferguson headquarters at Austin yesterday announced that more than 100 speakers would be in the field for Governor Ferguson this week.

Davidson's itinerary carries him to Temple, the home of the Ferguson's, tonight.

Ferguson's schedule takes him to Henderson this afternoon.

Moody's schedule is for Huntsville this morning, Crockett this afternoon, and Palestine tonight.

NEW WELL SOUTH MEXIA ATTRACTING ATTENTION HERE

Those interested in the matter of more adequate rail and overland transportation between Corsicana and Mexia, are urged to be present at the meeting to be held at the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce at 10:30 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Corsicana is closely linked with the new oil field, eight miles west of Mexia, and many of the companies have offices here, as well as many of the supply companies. Thus Corsicana will figure as one of the main bases of supplies and operations for the Nigger Creek district. Road conditions are bad during rainy seasons especially, on the road leading from Corsicana to the new field.

The Southern Pacific formerly operated a train between Dallas and Mexia, known as the "Oil Field Special," and made all short stops en route. It is likely that this service will be resumed to meet the traveling demands incident to the oil development.

The Transcontinental Oil & Gas Company's Rosson well is continuing to produce in a steady flow, and is turning out 2,700 barrels high grade oil per day from the Woodbine sand, topped at 2,845 feet.

Forty new drilling locations have been made off setting the new well in all directions, with a number of the new derricks completed and machinery being put in place. Major companies have been peppe up and have paid fancy prices for acreage, with a number of big royalty deals closed since last week. The field is eight miles west of Mexia and is apparently the opening of a big pool west of the old Balcones fault line. It means that a new line of big oil production has been opened that will extend several miles westerly and northeast and southwest from Luling to Corsicana, and farther. This series of pools will parallel the Mexia, Wortham, Currie, Richland, and Powell fields, and will be as large as these in point of production, area and extent.

PRIMARY BALLOTS PRINTED AND READY ABSENTEE VOTING

LOCAL CANDIDATES WILL SPEAK TONIGHT TO VOTERS OF RICE

lic office for private gain, waste of public money, and the using of public money to reward political henchmen.

On these three charges Mr. Moody dwelt at some length. He said he had been charged with slinging mud in his campaign, but added he was not so foolish as to believe that he could dirty up "that fellow Jim Ferguson" by throwing ordinary mud on him."

Moody said he favored vesting power in the county trustees in the establishing of centralized high schools, added that upon education free government depended, and also equipped the boys and girls of the State for grappling with life problems.

Taking up his first charge made against Ferguson, Moody said that before his wife was inaugurated governor, Jim Ferguson made public announcement he had been retained as general counsel of a railroad at a salary of $20,000 a year.

In this connection, he pointed out the Constitution of the State expressly prohibited the governor of the State to receive any fees or pay from any source other than the governor's salary of $4,000 a year.

"This was a clear violation of the spirit of the Constitution," Moody said. That by reason of being the husband of the legal governor, under the community property laws of this State, fifty cents of every dollar of that salary belonged to the governor, he said.

"If Jim Ferguson so expresses a contempt for the Constitution in this instance, where on earth does his contempt begin and where, oh, where does it end?" he commented.

The railroad mentioned, the speaker said, had 22 miles of track with a State prison farm at one end of it. He ridiculed the big salary of $20,000 a year paid to Ferguson as a general attorney and asked for what purpose was he so hired.

"Was it to argue cases in court in behalf of the railroad, was it to prepare briefs for the railroad, or what was it for?" he went on.

"Jim Ferguson could not bring a suit in justice court on a promissory note, unless the justice of the peace showed him how," he remarked as the crowd sent up a cheer.

"In July, 1925, Ferguson made a welcome address to the State Bar Association at Austin, in which he said he was not a lawyer, that he and the law fell out twenty years ago, and I think from the way he conducts public business, he and the law are still fell out," it was stated as the crowds laughed and applauded.

He took up the Ferguson Forum and its advertising campaign, declaring that favor seeking corporations had paid as high as $1,000 a page for advertising, which rate declared was as much as a page in fifteen largest newspapers in the State.

Moody declared that the Dallas News, Dallas Times Herald, Fort Worth Star-Telegram, Fort Worth Press, Fort Worth Record-Telegram, Houston Chronicle, Houston Post-Dispatch, San Antonio Express, San Antonio Light, Houston Press, Beaumont Enterprise, San Antonio News, Dallas Journal and the El Paso Herald, all combined, would have charged no more than the Forum charged for its advertisers.

Moody declared he had some of the contracts made by these advertisers and they were signed on stationery of the governor's office.

He paused to state that the people of Texas gave Jim Ferguson the best opportunity ever given to any man anywhere to redeem his name.

"But he loves silver and gold better than he could love his name," he said.

"What explanation does he make of this first charge I have mentioned and he cannot answer it, but hollers 'Klan,' 'Klan' 'Klan' trying to hatch up a 1926 governor out of a 1924 bird's nest, and he wanted to put the tar on the roads at 30 cents a square yard and take the feathers for his own nest."

In passing on to the second charge, the speaker produced a copy of the audit of the American Road Company and read figures on the highway road contracts.

He read that J. F. Dexter and Harry McCullom surfaced some road in Williamson county at a cost to the contractor of $2,135.61 and the State paid for it $17,265.60, this work being done under the Hoffman Construction Company, the contractor, he said, made 90 per cent profit, and the State paid the Hoffman Construction Company more than eight times as much as they paid the subcontractor.

Other figures he read were as follows:

A road that cost $5,877.12 the State paid $18,139.50; another road cost $2,435 and the State paid $22,351.80; another road cost $27,000 and the State paid $91,000; another road cost $17,000 and the State paid $70,352.25; another road cost $50,352.25 and the State paid $136,857.90; another road cost $46,884.48 and the State paid $154,783.05. The roads referred to are in Wise county, Johnson county, Hill county, Bell county and Williamson county. The total costs were $394,219.84 and the State paid $1,333,269.05, showing a net profit to the American Road Company of $939,049.21.

"The American Road Company had three second hand automobiles, one second hand car heating outfit and $10,000 cash," he said, "and the Hoffman Construction Company made a profit of $621,000."

Continuing he declared the contracts called for 1,500 miles of roads to surface by these two companies and the profits made on 500 miles of it amounted to $1,560,000, and if they had been permitted to complete the whole job profits of $4,500,000 would have been made.

"I brought suit before the same judge that ruled Mrs. Ferguson's name could go on the Democratic ticket, and the hearing was fair and impartially heard, and the court held the contracts were tainted with fraud and they should be cancelled," the speaker said.

He explained that $495,000 had been taken to Kansas City and invested in Liberty bonds. He said further:

"The man who took this money to Kansas City was formerly a resident of Bell county. The man who took the money in charge in Kansas City was formerly a resident of Bell county. The man who hollered the longest and the loudest about it was formerly a resident of Bell county, who now lives in the governor's mansion at Austin, Jim Ferguson."

"Old Jim goes about yelling around for me to tell how that money was brought back from Kansas City," he continued, "now when he tells us how it was taken out of the State, I will cross Texas to tell him how I managed to get it back."

Moody said roads can be built and have been built at ten and twelve cents a square yard. Under the contracts referred to the State furnished the rock and gravel, bought in Oklahoma at $3 a car and hauled to Texas, used by the American Road Company and billed to the State at $140 to $160 a car, Moody said, and challenged any one to dispute it.

"Many think that thirty cents a square yard is all that the roads cost the tax-payers, but by the State furnishing the rock and gravel at the prices paid for it, they cost the people at least forty-five and fifty cents a square yard."

"Some are saying I am too young but I am old enough to get between the treasury of this State and Jim Ferguson and the grafting road company," he ejaculated.

"They will elect me and I will be old enough to have the legislature make the most sweeping investigation of this business, and some of them will soon be getting their mail at Huntsville in care of the warden."

Taking up his third charge he declared that Ferguson rewarded his political henchmen. He produced the auditor's report of the

Hoffman Construction Company and read that a road in Bexar county the State paid this company the sum of $36,687.28, and that cost expended was $6,687.28

for maintenance.

He said that a maintenance contract had been let in Navarro county at $68,000 a year for maintenance on highways in the county to Adam Cone of Palestine.

"Adam Cone's only qualification as a road man was that he voted for and supported Ferguson and his henchman. He is an insurance and real estate agent. He did not have a hoe, a rake, a plow, or a home string that old Jim is always talking about, and yet he was let this contract."

"Morris Brown was paid $500 a month and one half the profits made on five contracts let to the Hoffman Construction Company, and he was not even a stockholder in the company. He used to live in Bell county. Brown was a lobbyist before the legislature, and after the legislature adjourned these contracts were let, and he drew his $500 a month and one half the profits to stick around and answer the telephone once in a while, according to the evidence brought out in the cancellation suits."

Moody declared he had some of the contracts made by these advertisers and they were signed on stationery of the governor's office.

He paused to state that the people of Texas gave Jim Ferguson

the best opportunity ever given to any man anywhere to redeem his name.

"But he loves silver and gold better than he could love his name," he said.

"What explanation does he make of this first charge I have mentioned and he cannot answer it, but hollers 'Klan,' 'Klan' 'Klan' trying to hatch up a 1926 governor out of a 1924 bird's nest, and
